About CEF

Children Empowerment Fund is an arm of Mission Enablers Africa that was established in 2018. We are focused on meeting children's educational and physical needs in Northern Nigeria and other remote parts of Africa.

01

Our goal is to give impoverished communities a voice and future by providing them with financial support and a suitable environment for formal education.

Africa's Present Reality

According to the United Nations, one out of every out-of-school child is in Africa. Statistics have shown that this is adversely affecting Africa's economy and growth. The saddening fact about these statistics is that these children are used for different inhumane activities that no child should ever experience. Some of which include:

Terrorism:

The United Nations (UN) reported that in 2017, "115 children – 38 boys and 77 girls" had been used as human bombs. This is in 2017 alone. Some of these children were abducted by the notorious sect in Northern Nigeria, Boko Haram.

Poverty:

As a result of the negative impact terrorism has had on the economy, several parents have been unable to send their children back to school or pay for their academic expenses.

Child Marriages:

The stay-at-home decision that was made by many of these children and their parents has led to several unhealthy things such as early marriages, unwanted pregnancies, and the worst of all, recruitment by religious extremists such as Boko Haram.

For better insights on the state of education in Africa, reports show that about 62% of girls in North-Eastern Nigeria get married before their 18th birthday and 23.5% of them before their 15th birthday. It's difficult for these children, once they are married, to

Our Current Plan of Action

We began the Back to School campaign 3 years ago and it has been an effective way of taking the children from the claws of child marriage, religious fanatics, and other harsh realities they live with. The children stay in school throughout the academic session, shielding them from the difficult economy their families might be going through.

Completing school building projects and taking care of their welfare as they get educated have helped the children feel cared for and open to learning.

The month of September every year is when we commence our Back to School campaign. The positive impact we have been able to make in the lives of the children has immensely encouraged us. Last year, we were able to take on 80 new children on the back to School campaign because of the generous giving we received.

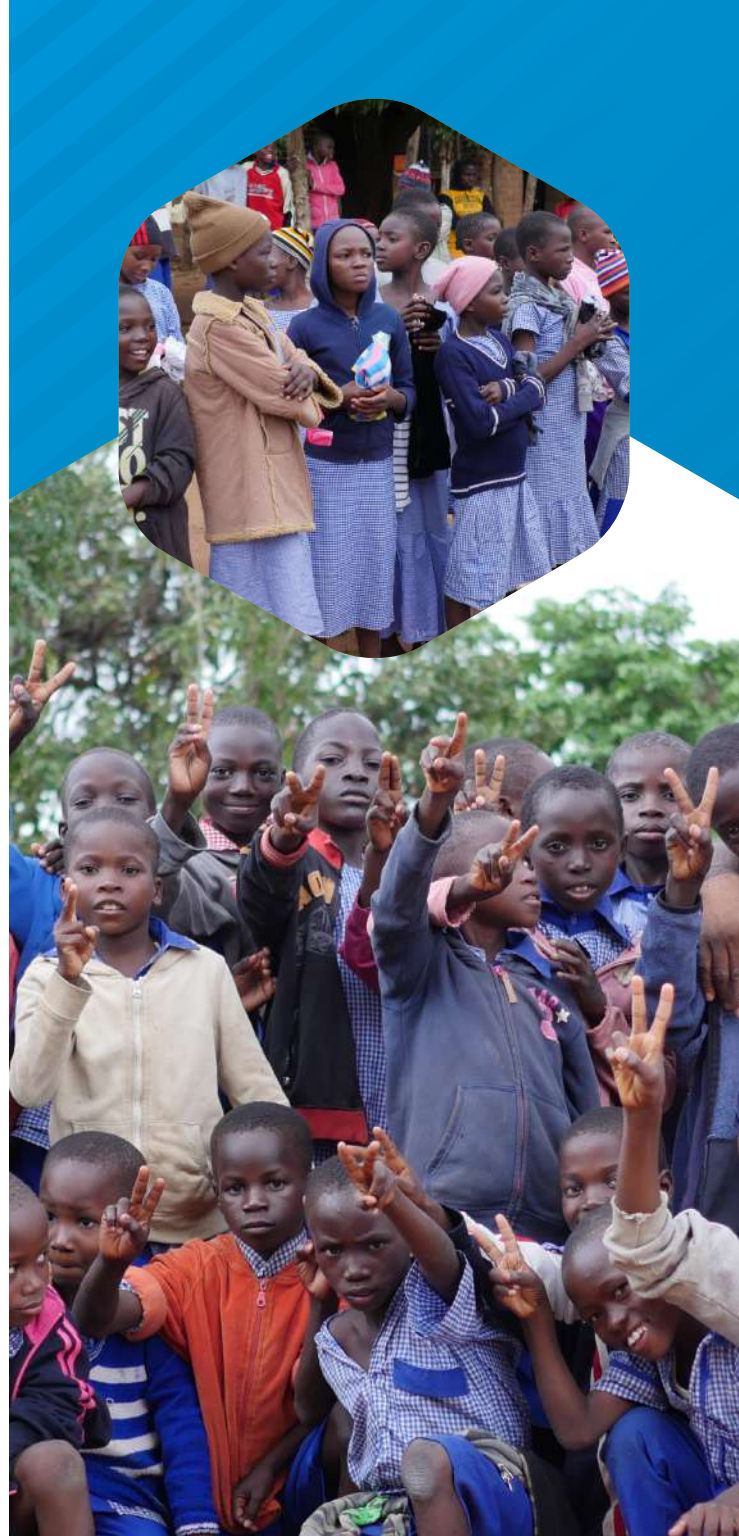

The Back to School campaign helps to keep the children in school through another academic year and ensure their welfare and academic needs are met.

Our Expected Result

In the 3 years that we have run this campaign, we have given so much hope to the children. They have gone from speaking no English words to a few than to eloquent. This campaign will go a long way in ensuring children return to school so they can become useful members of society.

With this, we would reduce and eventually eradicate the use of uneducated children as prey/victims for religious extremists and political propaganda.

It will also help to raise children who will then enlighten their community on the inappropriateness of terrorism, child marriages, and sexual misconduct.
